Competitions challenge district

A year of challenges faced students and faculty at every turn. From athletics to academics competition was arduous. The struggle to keep La Vernia on top occupied everyone's thoughts. Records set in the previous year had to be maintained or improved.

Students in the elementary school were faced with individual responsibility. Their lives changed when they learned that they were accountable.

Intermediate students faced changes. They had a new routine to follow and new activities to join. These changes were met as a challenge, as well as the adventure of growing up.

In the high school, everyone faced the challenge of making the grade. From football season in the fall to UIL season in the spring, teams felt the pressure to come out on top. Dedication to commitment was obvious as each student put it all on the line.

Varsity Bear's football team is on the line against the Woodsboro Eagles. After this victory the Bears advanced to area and regional playoffs.

David Bray and John Huckleba solve the problems in their program during Computer Science II. Under the guidance of Mr. Duane Strecker, two computer teams from LaVernia High School competed successfully at district, area, and state competitions in February and April.

Competitions sometimes can be fun. The varsity volleyball players participated in a rap contest sponsored by the varsity cheerleaders.

The Bear Band warms up before regional marching contest. The band received a 1 at district and went on to regional.

Mrs. Nan Dockery's algebra class practices finding area on a cake and enjoys eating it after they finished. Mrs. Dockery joined the La Vernia staff this year as a science and math teacher.

The seventh grade girls face their opponent bravely. This was their first year to play competitive sports.

In the elementary school students begin to learn about making the grade. Mrs. Sheri Boos gathered a group of students for a specialized lesson.

Administration draws the line

At the beginning of the year, Dr. Preston C. Stephens, superintendent, encouraged students, faculty, and staff to put forth their best effort to make 1987-88 productive and successful. His theme for the new year was: I make a difference.

Mrs. Mary Bordner, secretary of the superintendent, handled all computer related activities for the school district, as well as school board matters. She was assisted by Mrs. Janice Gimbel in the front office.

The administrative team was comprised of Dr. Preston C. Stephens, superintendent, Mr. James Maher, high school principal, Mr. Paul Kalkwarf, intermediate school principal, Mrs. Marie Gerlich, elementary school principal, and Mr. Mark Wiatrek, athletic director.

Concern with the threat of becoming a 3A district dominated the school year. The administration stressed the need for higher standards and the achievement of success in all areas.

Numerous adults serve LVHS

Adults vitalize many student activities within La Vernia ISD. They fully supported the students.

Many staff members started working before the first bell rang and worked long after the last bell sounded. Among the support groups were bus drivers, maintenance men, custodians, and the kitchen staffs. Volunteers included PTO members, band boosters, and athletic boosters.

Supporting the students was hard work, but these adults did not seem to mind. Their hard work, efficiency and organizational skills provided the framework for a successful year.

Awaiting the band's performance at Regional Marching Contest are band parents Mrs. Diana Beran, Mrs. Shirley Huckleba, Mrs. Mary Rutledge, and Mr. Jim Rutledge. The Band Booster president was Mr. Al Gonzales.

Mr. Clem Pollok watches intensely as the Varsity Boys Basketball team play against Stockdale. Mr. Pollok was the Athletic Boosters president.

Big Blue tromps Marion

Pushing their way into a packed Bear Stadium, La Vernia and Marion football fans watched the biggest gridiron battle of the season. This was Homecoming for La Vernia, and that made the fans more tense. The game, played on October 9, ended with the Bears winning 21-14. The outcome was in doubt several times, which added to the excitement of the contest. La Vernia and Marion are two of the most competitive teams in the district, especially when they play each other, and the victory was sweet.

The week before the Homecoming game was Spirit Week for students. The students dressed up appropriately, depending on what theme day it was. There were hat and shades, crazy, Hawaiian, nerd, and the traditional blue and white day.

On Thursday, the annual bonfire was lit on the west side of the Elementary School. A pep rally took place in front of the City Hall prior to the blazing exhibit, and the band led a parade of the cheerleaders, dance team, and football players through town.

During the halftime performance, Jeannie Ploch was crowned the new Homecoming queen by Dana Young, last year's queen.

Flying high, the Cheerleaders amaze the crowd at the pep rally with their leaps and bounds. The spirited week preceding the game was organized by the cheerleaders.

Forming an arc, the band begins its halftime performance for the pep rally. The halftime show was performed by the band for District UIL competition on October 24

Citizens celebrate Halloween

Dressed up in scary and funny Halloween costumes, hordes of students, teachers, and parents roamed the PTO Carnival at the high school on Saturday, October 31.

The day began with people setting up and preparing their projects for the festive night. Each grade level had a different booth, which was assembled with the help of parents, teachers, and students. Profits were divided between PTO and the classes.

Traditionally, the most popular event is the spook house sponsored by the Junior Class. Because of an accident with fire extinguishers, the spook house was forced to close. Other than this incident, the evening was a howling success.

High School

The reputation of any school district depends on the accomplishments of its high school. It is a heavy responsibility.

The spirit of L.V.H.S. was very competitive. Students and teachers worked together to support and excel in all areas. With the possibility of La Vernia going 3A in '88, the competitive spirit of the school was at an all-time high.

The success and finesse of La Vernia can be attributed to its outstanding people on the front line.

The Front Line

Shannon Laep, Rebecca Wildenstein, and Amy Allen reflect the winning spirit felt by all at La Vernia High. With so many successful teams the pride of accomplishment seemed to affect nearly every student.

"Ten years from now I will remember Mr. Schnitz and my experiences in Ag. Right now I look forward to coming to school to see my friends. I enjoy the variety of classes and the fact that all grades are grouped together."

Seniors survive HB 72

The Class of 1988 endured many changes during their education, with House Bill 72 being the biggest. They were the first class to go through all four years of high school under the bill. The seniors experienced and dealt with "No Pass/ No Play" and the anxiety of passing the exit level T.E.A.M.S. test. Passing the required courses with 70 percent caused problems for some students, but the class rose to the challenge.

Mrs. Jane Wiatrek stated, "There was massive confusion the first year, and several adjustments had to be made; however, all in all, this class was able to take things in stride and come through it all with few casualties. To me the class of '88 will always be remembered as the class who had to cope with great changes and who set the standard for those who follow."

Most teachers will remember the Class of '88 as a fun-loving group whose social skills equal their academic and athletic abilities. A large percentage of the class planned to go to college, and many students spent hours at Mrs. Wiatrek's computer trying to improve their SAT scores.

Active LVHS graduates honored

At the conclusion of thirteen years of school, various seniors have become well known for activities. Several members of the Class of 1988 have been recognized as being outstanding in some way.

Representing the whole student body, Mr. and Miss LVHS come from the members of the Senior Class. The honor is given annually to a couple who the students believe are examples of this year's graduating class.

The members of LVHS Who's Who were selected from among the Senior Class on the basis of academics, activities, and citizenship. They are chosen by the teachers and must be in the top quarter of the class.

The Senior Class conducted sales campaigns throughout the school year to raise money for the senior trip. The senior car wash was the most successful fund raiser.

At the end of the year, many seniors were recognized for their athletic and academic work, rewards for a job well done.

Seniors impress Houston

The seniors of 1988 had a little difficulty getting their senior trip off the ground. Because of past problems and unhappy experiences in Houston, the class had trouble getting chaperones. Coach Greg Rosemeyer and Mr. Duane Strecker drafted a list of rules, and after agreeing to them, the students were on their way to Houston.

In Houston, the seniors stayed at the Holiday Inn and visited Water World and Astro World, and went ice skating at the Galleria. "The class of '88 exhibited excellent behavior and had a wonderful time," Coach Rosemeyer stated. "Not one senior can say he had more fun than I did."

The seniors of 1988 set a precedent for other classes to follow and left the door open for future senior trips.

Seniors graduate with style

On a blustery but beautiful May 28, sixty-two seniors received their diplomas before a grandstand full of proud parents and friends. The commencement went well from Pastor Gary Goodson's invocation to the benediction by Christi Carson. Roslyn Niemietz and Jeff Schrader gave a humorous class history, and speeches on freedom and education were made by Audrey Kosub, valedictorian, and Patti Zenner, salutatorian, respectively. Mr. Alton Newell addressed the crowd on his experiences with the free enterprise system.

Numerous awards and scholarships were given to this year's graduating class. The La Vernia Memorial Scholarship was initiated to honor the memories of Jennifer Richie and Jeff Jackson. Clint Hartmann was the recipient. The Lions Club increased their scholarship amount from $250 to $400, and Shay Westburg was announced as the winner. The American Legion Citizenship Awards went to David Jenschke and Audrey Kosub. Philip Dylla received the Wilson County Peanut Growers Association Scholarship.

After the ceremony, the class released red and silver balloons into the night as the graduates said a tearful farewell to LVHS.

LVHS students gain recognition

Months of toil and hard work were recognized at the end of the year. Many students received scholarships and awards for a variety of achievements. Several seniors were nominated for Who's Who Among American High School Students, and recognition was given to seniors who received the Presidential Academic Fitness Award. Awards were also given out for a number of special activities throughout the school, including band, FFA, and UIL.

Jeff Doege received the Star Chapter Farmer Award for FFA, the highest student award given by that organization. The John Phillip Sousa band award went to Audrey Kosub, graduating senior.

Several underclassmen were chosen to represent LVHS at special events during the summer, and the seniors reaped a large number of scholarships.

Excitement lingered in the air on Friday, May 6. Junior expectations were high because the preparation and planning for the Prom began early in the year under the direction of Junior Sponsor Ms. Patricia Paradis and Prom Chairman Lacey Robbins.

The High School Cafeteria turned into a tropical climate for "Paradise Island." The System provided the music. "Everyone appreciated the thought that was put into the Prom. Many enjoyed the exotic atmosphere," according to senior Audrey Kosub.

Wills and prophecies were disclosed during intermission. The Prom King and Queen, Lance Montgomery and Sophie Artillan were crowned.

"The Junior Class did an outstanding job of planning and producing a beautiful Prom. Special thanks go to the parents and school staff members who helped. I had a great time," commented Ms. Paradis.

Prom plans dominate year

The Junior Class had another successful year. Money making projects, such as selling candy and fruit, helped to increase the money available for Prom.

The juniors built the bonfire for the Homecoming pep rally. The ill-fated spook house at the Halloween Carnival was also a junior project.

The class gained prominence in athletics, placing members on several all-district teams. Results on the TEAMS test were fair, but those taking the SAT scored well.

The project of the year was the Prom, of course. Prom was held on May 6, with the Systems providing the music. Chairman of the event was Lacey Robbins with Mark Koenig, co-chairman. The theme was "Paradise Island."

'Nice' sophomores show potential

An 82-member Sophomore Class made a big difference in the lives of LVHS students and faculty alike. According to Mrs. Joyce Sparks, who teaches sophomore English, "The sophomores this year are the sweetest and nicest group of kids I've ever had. They show great academic potential."

The sophomores chose Jennifer Theis as their Homecoming Duchess. Roger Keller and Michelle Fender were elected to the jobs of Halloween King and Queen. The class made a moderate profit with their PTO carnival booth, the money toss.

Talented group provides spirit

The freshmen class of 87-88 shows promise in both academics and athletics according to their sponsor, Mr. Danny Friesenhahn.

Enthusiasm was shown during many school activities such as the PTO Carnival. They had great success with their dunking booth because many freshmen volunteered to be dunked. King and queen candidates Crystal Clark and Keith Balcar won third place.

The Homecoming duchess representing the Freshman Class was Janelle Haese, and her escort was Curtis Swize.

Various members of the class displayed outstanding abilities in athletics, Band, UIL, Student Council, and FFA.

Leaders set fast pace

Long-term memory and the sharpening of writing skills were goals of the high school this year, according to James Maher, principal. To emphasize these objectives, test grades became a larger percentage of both six weeks and semester grades.

Many changes in efficiency took place in the La Vernia system. Computers were used for a student mailing list and inventory. Mr. Maher hopes that in the near future computers will assist in storing grades and students' schedules.

Selling yearbooks is not an easy job. Mr. James Maher supported the staff by buying a 1987 yearbook from Darin Ramzinski, a member of the yearbook staff

'Relentless' Bears take 31-AA

No one asks, "Where's La Vernia?" anymore. The Bears put La Vernia on the map. Between September and December, Big Blue chalked up 12 wins, including the Area Championship.

There were many doubts and speculations about the 1987 season, but the scores and statistics said it all.

The Bear Defense allowed only 14 points in the first half of 12 games. LVHS scored 396 points.

Outstanding contributions were made by David Watson, who rushed for 1576 yards and scored 96 points, and Troy Pollok who caught 20 passes for a total of 630 yards and 11 touchdowns. Philip Dylla's exceptional punting averaged 36.3 yards.

Mark Koenig was named District 31-AA MVP-Defense, and David Watson was named MVP-Offense. In all, 12 players were named to the District's first team.

The impressive statistics confirm Head Coach Mark Wiatrek's analysis, "It was a complete team effort."

JV goes undefeated

This year's junior varsity football team was one of the largest in LVHS's history. Thirty-four young men consisting of three juniors, 14 sophomores, and 17 freshmen suited out for the 1987 season. This large number should provide a promising future for La Vernia football.

"JV football is a time for learning and gaining experience, and I feel these young men did a fine job of these objectives as their perfect 9-0 season shows," said Coach Paul Pawelek.

The defense allowed only three touchdowns all year, while accumulating six shutouts. The offense also chalked up some impressive statistics, scoring 200 points for an average of 24 points per game. "I feel that hard work, team hustle, and togetherness were the key assets to our victorious season," remarked Pawelek.

Cheerleaders energy-packed

"Cheerleading requires skill and dexterity," said Nicole Payne, the head cheerleader.

The cheerleaders began their year by going to camp at Texas Lutheran College, where they received many awards and learned the fine points of cheering.

Being a spirited and acrobatic group, they were able to do pyramids and stunts that were real crowd pleasers.

Among the duties of the cheerleading squad were planning all pep rallies, having special treats for football players, making run-through signs, and decorating halls and lockers.

The squad choreographed their own cheers and were known for their gymnastic ability.

Colorful run-through signs spark interest for the team's grand entrance. Making the signs was a weekly ritual.

During the year the Honeybears performed at all of the football games and many of the home basketball games. The girls helped promote school spirit by decorating lockers and participating in school spirit activities. "Overall we have worked very hard together and have had a lot of fun," said Captain Shannon Wolfe.

During the summer the girls attended Super Star Drill Team Camp in Seguin where they received awards for performing individually and as a squad. At the end of the week they brought home the Shining Spirit Award which showed spirit, enthusiasm, and cooperation with each other and instructors.

The Honeybear sponsor was Ms. Amelia Flores, who supervised practices and performances.

Bears reach Bi-District

The varsity volleyball season was considered a great success. Coach Robin Harborth led her team to a 5-1 district record and a 17-7 overall record.

When asked to describe her team, Coach Harborth responded, "Experienced. When you have five starting seniors, that's easy to say. However, I must say that the underclassmen offered much leadership which will be depended upon next year."

"The team set goals throughout the year. Despite their loss to Woodsboro in Kenedy which ended all hopes of going to state, the seniors offered words of encouragement to those that would be returning for the 1988-89 team," proudly stated Coach Harborth.

JV girls show enthusiasm

The junior varsity volleyball team had almost twenty members. Each contributed greatly to the overall record of 7-2 and a district record of 6-0.

Coach Lydia Kubena said, "At times we split our team and played freshmen, as well as JV matches." The overall record of the freshmen was 4-1.

When asked about these teams, Coach Kubena responded, "The girls were interested in learning and working hard to better themselves in volleyball. Enthusiasm was also always there, which helped to make them a well-rounded team. The future looks bright for volleyball."

Unpredictable Bears cause excitement

"The strength of this year's team was probably their ability to get all they could from themselves," said Coach Greg Rosemeyer, describing the varsity team.

The lack of experience, at the varsity level, was the main frustration for the team this year, according to Coach Rosemeyer. Preseason practice time was lost due to the extended football season. Injuries and ineligibility also played a part in delaying the teams' progress. With many returning players, next year's team is sure to be exciting.

Most team members agreed that the most exciting games were against Marion. With the largest crowd of the season, the Bears won their home game, 56-51. Excited fans hoped for a similar outcome in Marion, but home court advantage favored the Bulldogs.

Taking time out, Coach Greg Rosemeyer gives the team instructions. The members practiced two hours every day during the season.

Varsity girls determined to win

When asked about the Varsity Girls Basketball team, Coach Robin Harborth replied, "Determined! The girls set goals early in the season to earn a playoff spot. Despite their losses to state-ranked Poth and Marion, the girls still gave 100 percent. They were never more than eight points behind at the halftime of any district game."

Harborth also stated that the team had an excellent attitude. "They were very cooperative, considering the fact that they had many adjustments to make to a new system and coach. The team continued to improve all year, especially in their technique and plays."

The girls ended the season as the third ranked team in district, with an overall record of 19-8, and a district record of 9-5.

Energetic JV teams improve

When asked what one word would describe the JV girls basketball team, Coach Lydia Kubena said, "Improved." The girls worked well together. They had many strengths, including energy and quickness. Contributing to the number of losses were the facts that they ended up with only seven members on the team and they lacked height. Their overall basketball "sense" improved this year, which should help the future JV and varsity teams.

Coach Larry Moore commented that the JV boys have become more aggressive in their defensive tactics. The JV boys rebounded well but lacked ball handling skills. "The team worked well together considering how little practice time we had," said Coach Moore. "Young" was the word used by Coach Moore to describe the team because most of the starters were freshmen.

The JV girls reset after scoring extra points against the Marion Bulldogs. The girls had an exhausting night.

Athletic teams show strength

Hours of training and practice paid off for the powerlifting boys, who had only four meets this year, including Regional and State. Mark Koenig, Lance Montgomery, and Jimmy Pike went on to Regional, with Jimmy Pike going on to State.

Four meets, including State, were held for the girl powerlifters. Their strength and skill earned them victories at Canyon, Wimberley, and Pflugerville.

An attempt was made to organize a tennis team. Three students participated at the April 11 District tournament under the direction of a new coach, Coach Robin Harborth. "The practices were long, but they were enjoyable," stated Sophie Artillan.

Mike Barberousse, Ronny Sorbel, and Michael Armstrong proved to be competent golfers at their only meet. The meet was held at the Chaparral Country Club in Seguin in April.

Tennis team members are: Michele Ranney, Sophie Artillan, Shannon Wolfe, Amber Luddecke, Crystal Stuart, Michael Armstrong, and John Huckelba.

Golf members are: Ronny Sorbel, Mike Barberousse, and Michael Armstrong.

Baseball team digs in

The Varsity Bears baseball team started the season by winning their first game. The rest of the season was up and down; however, the team greatly improved from the year before. Coach Paul Pawelek worked hard to improve the players' basic skills and interpersonal relationships so they would work better as a team. By

May, the improvement showed.

Troy Malish, senior, commented, "The team shows a lot of potential."

The Bears' record for the 1988 season was 8-11-1. They placed 6th in district.

Bears run away with district

The Varsity Girls Track Team had a tremendous season overall. They took first place at the Junction, La Vernia, Jourdanton, and Devine track meets. When asked if there was any one track meet which was outstanding, Head Coach Lydia Kubena replied, "I would have to say that the girls, overall, did an outstanding job at the Devine meet."

"The team has a certain unity which helps them to have a winning attitude. The girls are also very hard workers and they realize that hard work plus a great attitude equals a winner," stated Kubena.

The Varsity Boys Track Team also had an outstanding season. The boys were declared district champs for the second consecutive year, scoring a total of 157 points. Head Coach Larry Moore stated, "the district meet was easily our best."

"This team showed great character. After losing seven athletes to grades and suffering injuries to key performers, we scored only 34 points and finished seventh at the La Vernia Track Meet. This was especially depressing since we had won the meet the year before. However, the team continued to believe in themselves and began to improve gradually. Our high water mark was clearly the district meet, which we won easily," said Coach Moore.

Athletes go beyond district

Four teams competed in post-season play, making it a banner year for La Vernia. It all began with football. The Bears ended the regular season with a record of 10-0. The team advanced to the regional semifinals where they were defeated by Schulenburg. The Bears finished with a new school record of 12-1. Twelve players were named to the all-district first team, and Mark Koenig and David Watson received Defensive and Offensive Most Valuable Player honors in District

31-AA.

In volleyball, the Lady Bears advanced to bi-district and met the Lady Eagles of Woodsboro. They were beaten, but took pride in knowing they had made the playoffs.

Jimmy Pike qualified for the State Powerlifting Meet in April, placing eleventh. Both track teams won district, and the majority of both teams advanced to regional. However, David Watson was the only state qualifier, placing fourth and third in his events.

Sports banquet names MVP's

On May 19, 1988, the La Vernia Athletic Association held the annual Athletic Banquet.

Athletes, parents, coaches, and members of the Athletic Association gathered in the High School cafeteria to recognize all the athletes and honor the Most Valuable Player in each high school sport.

The La Vernia Athletic Association sponsored fund raisers throughout the year to aid the school's athletic programs. The officers were Clem Pollok, president; Ted Claus, vice-president; Bernice Niemietz, secretary; and Jo Jenschke, treasurer.

Bear Band blows 'em away

The Mighty Bear Band plunged into district competition receiving a first division in marching and sightreading, and a second division in concert. The 90 member band consisted of nearly 30 percent beginning marchers. This percentage was the largest in the history of the band.

"The band's tremendous success came from the unity and ability to pull together when it really counted. When the performance was poor, the students regrouped and found a way to fix it, although we could not have done it without such great instructors," declared Jennifer Herron. The band was under the direction of Mrs. Kyle Freisenhahn, with the assistance of Mrs. Roxanne Heckman.

The Future Homemakers of America had a very productive and successful year filled with many special projects.

At Halloween the members visited the Stockdale Nursing Home where they were greeted with a warm welcome by all. During Christmas they returned to sing carols to the patients.

The annual Christmas party was once again held at the Magic Time Machine and was enjoyed by everyone. During the summer the students took a field trip to Schlitterbaun in New Braunfels.

As they have been so many years before, the FHA was a major participant at the La Vernia Stockshow. Along with Advisor Mrs. Susan Keller, the members were great supporters of all events and projects at the Stockshow. Members volunteered their time to work the concession stand in order to earn money for the organization. A record 1,100 hamburgers were sold.

Ag teams win honors

The FFA teams had an excellent year due to the hard work and dedication of many students. Both the Dairy and Meat Judging Teams went to state in May. The Quiz Team, all freshmen, also went to state in the Fall, taking an impressive first place.

Many students prepared and exhibited their animals in the San Antonio and Houston stockshows before the La Vernia show.

The FFA ran the coke stand at the La Vernia Stockshow in order to raise money for the organization. The stockshow was a great success because of the participation of all the FFA members.

The La Vernia Junior Livestock Show was held the weekend of March 18. Animals were weighed in and sifted on Friday. Friday evening and Saturday morning the animals were judged. Ribbons were awarded to all places, and trophies were received by Grand and Reserve champions of all divisions.

As the sun broke through the clouds Saturday morning, the day seemed more promising. Starting promptly at eight, the foods show was underway. Qualified judges tasted and scored the sweets.

The FHA and FFA fed the hungry exhibitors, parents, and buyers with hamburgers and cokes.

Student Council consisted of three representatives elected from each class. Updating the bulletin boards in the hallways and the daily raising of the flags in front of the school were their chief responsibilities. Student Council was sponsored by Mr. Robert Cole.

On the afternoon of Prom day, May 6, the Student Council sponsored a playday at the City Park, and classes competed for superiority in softball and volleyball. Lunch consisting of barbecued hamburgers, chips, and soft drinks, was served by Student Council members as students mingled in the park and prepared for their class competitions.

Competition proves rewarding

"Successful" is how Mrs. Sharon Davis described the District UIL meet. Scoring 271 points, La Vernia won the meet, and twenty-four people advanced to regional competition in Victoria on April 22. The district meet took place at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin on March 22. La Vernia contestants competed against seven other schools in District 31-AA.

The Ugly Duckling, a farce, was entered in the One Act Play zone competition. At zone, Darren Claus, Rebecca Wildenstein, and Jennifer Lambert were named to the All-Star Cast, and Mimi Pike and Craig Lackey received Honorable Mention. Advancing to district competition were La Vernia and Marion. La Vernia placed third at district, where Rebecca Wildenstein and Jennifer Lambert received All-Star Cast, and Darren Claus and Mimi Pike were named to the Honorable Mention cast.

The UIL co-ordinators were Mrs. Sharon Davis and Mrs. Coriea Plowman. The play was directed by Mr. Robert Hrechko.

Language skills emphasized

English

An accelerated curriculum was implemented in the English III and IV Honors classes. "To help the students gain insight into individualism," was Mrs. Sharon Davis' view toward the changes. The students kept journals, diaries, and symbolic representations of maturity. Mrs. Davis' students also studied poetry and prose and the big projects in the spring were the term papers.

Mr. Danny Friesenhahn, a new teacher, had to adapt to the curriculum set by the school district. Emphasis was placed on literature in the ninth grade. The literature was taught in units by types, such as Greek Mythology. The students designed thrones for the gods and goddesses of Olympus and had to write an original myth by using a natural event.

Theater Arts & Newspaper

Mrs. Corlea Plowman taught

Honors English II, theater arts, and newspaper journalism. She took over for Mrs. Joyce Sparks, who suffered a severe illness before the second semester.

Mrs. Plowman had guest speakers visit her classes. In English she invited a local author to speak. Honors English II also researched the history of La Vernia. The newspaper staff turned out a paper printed by the Seguin Gazette. The normal newspaper format was enjoyed by the whole student body.

Honors English III students rehearse for The Crucible. The play was a project for Mrs. Sharon Davis, and these students spent a Sunday afternoon on the patio getting ready for second period on Monday.

Tommy Kotzur lip syncs in Theater Arts class. His imitation of George Strait was a highlight of the show. This activity was the class' favorite assignment and was repeated regularly throughout the year.

Mrs. Sharon Davis' English III class attempts to take notes as she explains the material. Glen Hoofard asked many questions throughout the year and helped to keep the class exciting.

Mr. Danny Friesenhahn gets caught in action. Grading papers seemed to be a trial for most teachers, and working in the teachers' lounge seemed to ease the ordeal.

Students in Mr. Danny Friesenhahn's English I class enjoy a video presentation. The class was studying Romeo and Juliet and watched a professional presentation to increase their understanding.

Martha Leija and Mary Chagoya look on as Kim Gerhardt reviews the school newspaper. Kim was the newspaper editor this year.

Shelton Fowler enjoys reading a newspaper article during journalism class. The newspaper staff often borrowed ideas from newspapers to enhance their own pages.

Honors English II students act out Of Mice and Men during class time. The participation made the learning process more enjoyable.

Lisa Lubbock catches a small nap after lunch. Fellow students in Honors Algebra II teased Lisa for her occasional lapses during class.

Rick Kramer works diligently on the Periodic table. The chemistry classes painted the table in Mrs. Nan Dockery's room during the Christmas holidays.

Math, science combine skills

Math

The accelerated math classes were taught by Mrs. Lois Bigler, Mr. Mike Rheinlaender, and Coach Mark Wiatrek. Mrs. Bigler taught the new Honors Algebra II class. It consisted of 12 students using an advanced text. The trigonometry class went to Randolph in March with the advanced computer class to view the facilities and inquire about mathematical careers in the Air Force.

Coach Wiatrek taught geometry preparing the students to go on to Algebra II. Coach Wiatrek stated that although his classes were not divided into honors sections, he had some exceptional students. The geometry students often enjoyed learning to graph intricate geometric figures. Algebra I was taught by Mr. Mike Rheinlaender. Mr. Rheinlaender showed his classes the practical applications of algebra by going out on the lawn and using stakes to prove the Pythagorean Theorem. In the spring the FOM class challenged the trig class to a softball game. Statistics were kept and studied the following day.

Science

Dr. Keith Himmel and Mrs. Nan Dockery taught all phases of high school science, including physical science, biology, chemistry, and physics.

College bound students took chemistry and enjoyed the lab experiments. "The most unusual things about the students in La Vernia is their high level of skill. It's above any level I've seen in other schools," said Mrs. Dockery.

Dr. Himmel taught biology and physics. The biology students enjoyed dissecting fetal pigs and having plant and bug collections. The highlight of the year was dissecting a shark. A special treat was having a cheese tasting party to study molds and enzymes. The physics students performed many laboratory experiments and designed and built a kite for their final exam.

History

Coach Larry Bob Moore had an interesting year teaching his American history and government classes. Many government students went on a field trip to Austin to see the LBJ Library and the State Archives on December 15.

The American history class started the year by doing a family tree. The second six weeks everyone found an old legend and recorded or wrote it down. Coach Moore really put spunk into both classes by having a current events feud on many Fridays.

The world history classes were led by Coach Paul Pawelek. Coach Pawelek allowed the students to put together a notebook every six weeks to bring up their grades. His classes had the reputation of being lively.

Business and Economics

Economics, typing, accounting, business law, personal business management, and recordkeeping were important business classes taught by Ms. Patricia Paradis and Mrs. Peggy Rheinlaender.

The Honors Economics class participated in a stock market game, competing with schools throughout the San Antonio area. Advanced typing and office procedures have become more involved in school and community projects.

Mrs. Rheinlaender's record-keeping class did the actual work of a recordkeeper for their final six weeks project.

Computers

Computer science classes took a field trip in the spring to Randolph Air Force Base to observe the uses of main frames. Mr. Duane Strecker strongly emphasized programming in his classes, using Basic and Pascal computer languages. Computer math was offered, teaching basic math on the computer.

In February, two computer teams went to regional competition in San Antonio against schools much larger than LVHS. The teams placed first and tenth. The first place team qualified to compete at the state competition held at Judson High School in San Antonio.

Members of the Agricultural Mechanics class learn to survey. The class was a two hour morning course.

While the students decorate cookies, Missy Kaupert supervises them. The best part was eating the results.

Classes build on training

Vocational Agriculture

Vocational agriculture students experienced hands-on training in all classes. Mr. Rex Schnitz and Mr. Kevin Sells directed students in all phases of agriculture. Students constructed trailers, repaired small engines, participated in poultry and meat judging, and raised a garden.

Ag classes went on three major field trips. The classes visited Holly Farms in Seguin, a meat plant, and had local on-farm projects. Later in the year, a representative from UTI spoke to the juniors and seniors.

Next year classes will be referred to as agriculture sciences and will run on a semester rather than yearly schedule.

Home Economics

Students in home economic classes, taught by Mrs. Susan Keller, learned many domestic activities. The foods class cooked various dishes for meals and the consumer education class sewed "jams" for the summer. The clothing class constructed new aprons for the food labs, 165 bandanas for the L. Vernia Stockshow, and many personal garments. The consumer education class had guest speak to them about insurance and banking.

The home economics classes included six semester classes for in-depth study into particular areas. The two new classes were clothing and textiles and home furnishings and housing.

Health

The purpose of health class was to gain life skills and attitudes toward personal health. The class studied diseases, the human body, and nutrition. The La Vernia EMS gave Mr. Greg Rosemeyer's class a demonstration on the techniques of Coronary Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR). The students enjoyed practicing their newly learned skills on Annie, the demonstration dummy.

Joe Carrola practices mouth to mouth resuscitation on a dummy with Mrs. Mary Lynn Sheirer's help. The health class learned CPR and other first aid techniques.

Getting ready to weld, Joey Winkler ignites his torch. The Ag Mechanics class also learned mechanical skills.

Ms. Amelia Flores concentrates on a sample of her students' cooking skills. She taught Spanish I and II.

Students enjoy varied cultures

Spanish

With new and exciting things to learn, the Spanish classes taught by Ms. Amelia Flores, explored cultural differences. Her Spanish classes enjoyed taking a field trip in February to watch Mexican dancers perform. The group finished the day at Poncho's Mexican Restaurant for a cultural shock in tasting Mexican food.

After what seemed like endless days of worksheets, the students in Spanish II classes enjoyed making Mexican dishes such as tortillas, enchiladas and frijoles and crafting Ojos de Dios. The Spanish I students learned how to make pinatas and colorful paper flowers.

French

Mrs. Kathleen Bierle taught the French class the finer points of the language. With the absence of classes in French the year before, Mrs. Bierle was hopeful for a good enrollment in 1987-88, and eighteen students participated.

On December 17, 1987, her students enjoyed a field trip to the McNay Art Institute to examine French paintings. Afterwards the students experienced the fine art of French cuisine.

Special Education

Special ed. was taught by Mr. Robert Cole. He incorporated rewards along with learning. The special ed. students proved to be good artists and kept the library windows decorated.

The resource room was moved to "B" building, and students enjoyed easy access to the City Park, where they played volleyball and softball between lessons.

Craig Lackey is pondering his choice of words for the copy on the football page. Learning to write effective copy was part of the yearbook instruction.

Karen Henzen and Kelly Mollenkopf are working hard to meet their deadline. Meeting deadlines involved teamwork and organization.

Yearbook utilizes computers

"A remarkable group of journalism students showing eagerness and competence," said Mrs. Lois Bigler to describe her yearbook class. Many new challenges faced the staff. For the first time they used computers to put together the index, body copy, and all other written materials. Yearbook sales and ads were also entered on the computer. Much of the year was spent learning the system. Doing layouts, writing captions, copy, and headlines occupied the first two six weeks.

In August the yearbook staff went to Newsfoto Yearbook Camp in Austin. Members learned new techniques, such as computer use, graphics, layouts, photography, and importance of creativity.

Mr. James Maher and Mr. Joe Cicherski were guest speakers for the yearbook class. Mr. Maher gave a demonstration on feature writing for magazines; Mr. Cicherski gave a lecture on news writing for newspapers. Both men emphasized journalistic techniques and gave helpful hints on copy writing.

Throughout the year students studied examples of other successful yearbooks, and examined actual layouts in magazines and newspapers to increase the staff's knowledge of print journalism. The 1986 Bear Pride Yearbook took a 2nd place in the ILPC competition, the UIL division for high school journalists.

Besides the sales of the yearbook and its advertising, the class ran a yearbook store with school supplies and at the end of the year conducted a sale of extra pictures.

The class consisted of two sophomores, seven juniors, and eight seniors. For the first time the majority of students involved with the yearbook were underclassmen.

Craig Lackey, Nicole Payne, and Steve Dobbins take time out to show what fun yearbook can be. Their duties as staff members caused them to show up at strange places at odd times.

David Burns is concentrating extremely hard on writing his copy. The whole staff agreed that copy was the hardest part of yearbook.

Mrs. Lois Bigler and Kelly Mollenkopf are sorting pictures for yearbook pages. Many pictures were taken throughout the year.

Intermediate School

In Intermediate School one's responsibility is increased. Being in a new location made the students feel more independent, and they enjoyed being able to change classes and having different teachers.

National Junior Honor Society was added to the list of activities and honors, and with sports, band, and U.I.L., students had many opportunities for extracurricular enrichment. Life became hectic for the students as they accustomed themselves to living between the lines.

Cubs battle way to top

Both junior high football teams fought their way to the top this year. The 7th and 8th graders met their opponents head on and emerged nearly unscathed.

Opposing teams faced a fearsome sight when they encountered the 8th grade Cubs. Roaring past competent teams, the Cubs set their sights on being District champs. The Cubs clinched District with a record of 6-1, their only defeat at the hands of the Nixon-Smiley Colts.

Clawing their way past most opponents, the 7th grade Cubs chalked up a creditable season with a record of 1-2-1. According to Coach Richard Hinojosa, "They had a promising start, but unfortunately, due to House Bill 72, we took some losses. The 7th graders were still competitive after that time."

Coaches for the teams were Mr. Richard Hinojosa and Mr. Greg Rosemeyer.

"It was a very long season," commented Coach Holly Holbrook. That was an accurate assessment of the 7th and 8th grade volleyball season.

Despite the fact that the 7th grade steadily improved, they had a record of only 2 wins and 4 losses. Although they faced fierce competition, every one of the 30 players got some playing time.

"Even the 8th grade progressed by using more advanced methods," stated Coach Holbrook. With a record of 3 wins and 3 losses the talented 8th graders proved to be difficult to beat.

Cubs show potential

The 7th grade boys basketball team played well for their first year on the court. The team had an overall record of 2-7 and a zone record of 1-5. Their dedication to practice and team work guarantees a better season next year.

The 8th grade boys basketball team had an excellent season. The boys set a record of four 3-point shots in one game and were named zone champions with a record of 5-1 and an overall record of 7-4.

Players make progress

Participating in the athletics program for the first time, the 7th grade girls basketball team learned what it is to work together. By the end of the season, progress had been made, and improved team effort was evident, according to Coach Holly Holbrook. The 8th grade team also increased its teamwork, as well as basketball skills.

Playing time in all games was equally distributed among the players, giving every girl an equal chance to play.

Both the 7th and 8th grade girls basketball teams were very disappointed in the few number of games they played, but it was inevitable with all the cancellations that were made. The teams that they competed against were Navarro, Marion and Nixon-Smiley, and both La Vernia squads had identical 1-2 records in district.

A fast break is a key to a victory. Karin Strey shows readiness as Christie Robbins sets the pace.

Teams break school records

The junior high track teams did outstandingly well at the track meets in which they participated. The list of achievements that the Cubs earned are as follows: champions at the Marion Lions Club Relays, runners-up at the District 31-AA meets in La Vernia, Marion, Stockdale and Medina Valley.

During their victorious winning streak, the Cubs broke 11 school records, nine in the eighth grade and two in the seventh grade.

Coach Richard Hinojosa and Coach Holly Holbrook took on a great challenge to make the junior high track teams the best that they could be. The track teams did just that by working harder than ever to win every meet.

Students beautify campus

Mr. Paul Kalkwarf feels that his students have reacted favorably to the many changes that have been made in the Intermediate School. The students have developed a sense of pride in their "new" campus.

"Last year we were still an off-shoot of the high school. Now the students feel that this is their campus," said Mr. Kalkwarf. Everyone is proud of the improvements that have been made. Flowers have been planted, and new picnic tables have been installed in front of the school.

Mr. Kalkwarf believes that everyone has been deeply involved in the education process. "Due to good communication between teachers, students, and parents we have been able to smooth the process and catch any problems as they started to develop."

There are plans to add classrooms and cafeteria space as the student body continues to grow. An increase in the number of staff members is foreseen.

"All in all it was a very good year due to the efforts of the talented staff and the students themselves," stated Mr. Kalkwarf.

Mrs. Connie Hall, Jonathan Armstrong, and Colby Stoeber discuss a question. Fifth graders were industrious.

Students have active year

Intermediate students were involved in various activities throughout the year. A new organization was started and other organizations gained momentum.

The National Junior Honor Society was started, and 23 high caliber students were inducted. The band won sweepstakes at their concert and sightreading contest. U.I.L. participants successfully represented their school at the meet held in Nixon-Smiley.

Cheerleaders logged many hours in support of their teams, and the pep squad was responsible for a large part of the cheering at football games.

Athletic stars begin to shine

"Energetic" is how Mrs. Martha Shank described her pupils. And indeed, they shone in the sports world.

Class rises to challenges

The sixth grade looks forward to playing sports and doing more activities in the upcoming years. They learned the basics of competitive sports throughout the year. The sixth graders were an academically competitive group as well.

"The sixth graders are a very challenging group. They can be fun, and I like working with them," stated Mrs. Roxanne Heckman, band and music teacher.

The class took a field trip to Austin on May 3. They toured the Capitol and saw the Texas Legislature at work.

The sixth graders work diligently on their homework. This was their first year of changing classrooms and teachers.

Fifth becomes more responsible

The adjustment time which the fifth graders have experienced was a very difficult period in their lives.

Upon entering the intermediate school the fifth graders faced new personal responsibilities and changes. They were assigned lockers, and they moved from teacher to teacher throughout the day. Academic work became more difficult with homework assigned regularly.

Fifth graders could join band for the first time, and UIL competitions became important.

Notable academic accomplishments were the memorization of the states and capitals and learning to count in Spanish and German.

Mr. Tom Lawrence's reading class enjoys the break from their school work. Within one class period a variety of subjects was taught

While puzzling over the answer, Donnie Schroeder makes himself comfortable. Spelling tests were a part of their weekly assignments.

Intent on winning, Ryan Dever races to finish the problem. Multiplication was one of the many skills which the fifth grade had to learn.

Elementary School

Elementary School is the starting line for children in American society. For the first time each child assumes responsibility for his actions and is judged by his behavior and performance.

Everyday the children of La Brea put it "all on the line" trying to cope and achieve. Their teachers advise and direct their paths with many long-range goals in mind.

The Starting Line

Kim Perry is working diligently in her mathematics book. Kim voluntarily stayed behind in Mrs. Wadlington's first grade class to complete an assignment while her classmates were at recess.

"The best thing about school is learning."

— Joshua Schulz,
Kindergarten

Adults lend direction

"Elementary school is the beginning. The foundation is being laid for academic success. Students look forward to the days when they can participate in some of the extracurricular activities," was Principal Marie Gerlich's attitude toward the advancement of the elementary students. Mrs. Gerlich is proud of the qualified instructors who understand the importance of a good beginning.

The multi-handicapped class, taught by Mr. Dave Medlin, learned reading skills and used objects instead of pictures. Mr. Medlin commented, "Twenty years ago, the kids would not have been in the classroom. The human race has come a long way in accepting them."

Mrs. Laura Ramzinski instructs students in the methods of a computer. Mrs. Ramzinski assisted the elementary staff in any way possible

Diane Marsh, secretary
Cathy McWhorter, special education aide
Janis Moore, special education

Mrs. Mary Zigmond measures medicine in the nurse's facilities. Mrs. Zigmond assisted Rhonda Broll in physical education activities.

Dressed for the holidays is Mrs. Sharon Wootan. Mrs. Wootan was a teacher's aide at the elementary school.

Mrs. Kasey Dickson tests Stacyc Rohrbough for hearing deficiencies. Mrs. Dickson, the school nurse, attended to ailing students from all three campuses.

Principal Marie Gerlich pauses to work with her students. Corey Trimeyer and Lawrence Roberts were attentive students.

John Gitchel wonders what to do next. John was one of the more energetic of Mr. Dave Medlin's students

Mr. Dave Medlin and Tammy Lauderdale certainly enjoy their time together. Tammy was one of Mr. Medlin's many students

Kimberly Cervanka and Shelley Richter pose with the Christmas tree in the cafeteria. The whole elementary school got into the Christmas spirit by making ornaments for the tree.

Brian Van Pelt and Michael Adkins entertain themselves during recess. Fourth grade had the last lunch period of the day.

Brandon Brisco and John Fimple are learning important skills in Mrs. Jan Moore's class. Listening skills were stressed all year.

Students enjoy varied activities

Learning the basics — reading, writing, and arithmetic — kept the industrious elementary students busy. The students participated in many activities this year when they put their best on the line. They practiced and prepared for the UIL tournament in April. Along with the rest of the district, the elementary school took achievement and T.E.A.M.S. tests.

As well as academic studies, elementary students had many special events like field trips when the children forgot the classrooms for awhile.

"The students understand they must do their best to widen their opportunities as they continue in school," said Mrs. Marie Gerlich, principal. Laying a solid foundation was the goal of the elementary school staff.

Amanda Grun and Crystal Wieding enjoy the blocks. Play was an important part of kindergarten's day

Dawn Coulter and Molly Robbins are dressed for Halloween. The elementary school had contests to determine who had the best costumes.

The "California Raisins" are really the elementary staff in disguise. Rhonda Broll and Sharon McGee came up with the idea of entertaining the crowd.

Sponsored by La Vernia Cable Co.

Adjustments handled well

Fourth graders had to adjust to new teachers, new classmates, and new ways of learning, but they rose to the occasion and met these challenges very well.

Mrs. Donna Owen's fine arts classes presented a Thanksgiving play to the whole school in November. Mrs. Barbara Lackey's science classes performed many educational experiments.

Highlights of the year included two volunteers from the University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures, who came to school and presented the Indian Tex-Kit in October. The Indian Tex-Kit details the life of the Indians of Texas. The fourth grade then took a field trip to the Institute of Texan Cultures in February.

All fourth grade eyes are on Pedro Bautista. The students presented a Thanksgiving play to their teachers and classmates.

Mrs. Barbara Lackey shares a laugh with her students. The students were learning new ways to demonstrate their mathematical abilities.

Joey Browning and Ricky Mercer take time for a quick drink from the water fountain. Fourth graders especially enjoyed the after-lunch recess on the play ground.

Class size jumps suddenly

The finally-settled third graders were hard at work this year. "Last year's stylish second graders have become comfortably dressed and hard working third graders," stated Mrs. Laurie Sekula. Along with their new classrooms, new, more difficult texts were issued, which caused hours of additional work for teachers as well as the students.

The small population of students in the third grade has increased immensely. There are now a total of four classrooms. "In November, alone, five new students were enrolled and many more came at the beginning of second semester," explained Mrs. Diana Beran.

Second grade enjoys holidays

Second graders made great academic progress this year. Reading and math skills were emphasized to give youngsters a good background for years to come.

Students enjoyed decorating their classrooms to express their thoughts about special holidays throughout the year, such as Christmas, Halloween, and Valentine's Day.

Local history and places of interest in La Vernia were stressed by teachers. One highlight of the year was a walking field trip to City Hall in January.

Second graders parade near the high school on Halloween. Wearing costumes to school was an event.

Raymond Ward finishes his studies for another day. Getting ready to be a second grader was not an easy task.

Students take time out from their busy schedule for a short water break. Learning to move quietly in the halls as a group was difficult.

Group masters basic skills

First grade teacher Mrs. Sharon Wadlington felt that last year's students were some of the brightest and fastest learners in a long time.

Much of the students' time was spent preparing for the second grade. Because of new state laws first graders had to work harder than ever before to develop math and reading skills.

Teachers rewarded the hard working students by allowing them to prepare special art projects. The highlight of the year was a visit to the Witte Museum.

The first graders' enthusiasm produced a fun and successful year for themselves and the teachers.

First graders listen closely during Mrs. Kathleen Robbins's class. Students were excited about learning the day's lesson.

Long journey starts here

"Very bright," Mrs. Sheri Boos said to describe the Kindergarten.

Being a kindergartener is harder than most people think. Through the year they learned how to read, print, add and subtract, tell time, and count. Not only did they learn academic traits, they learned good personal habits.

Having a garden was a fun and exciting experiment. The kindergarten planted lettuce, garlic, green beans, tomatoes, and squash, and then tasted their produce. Learning to cook delighted the children.

Kindergarten students performed songs for the Christmas program, which turned out to be a big success. The main event of the year was going on a field trip to Scull Dairy and having a picnic.

Mrs. Iris Seale and Sheali Moeing are cutting a pumpkin for their pie. The whole class participated in the activity.

Listening skills become important as kindergarteners learn to listen and think. These students learned to follow directions in Mrs. Seale's class.

Joshua Schulz enjoys the cookie he baked for Christmas. One of the highlights of the year was making cookies with the help of the Homemaking department.

LVHS puts it ALL on the line

To keep up its high standards, La Vernia High had to put it all on the line this year. The school had to equal or surpass our old records in order to remain a top school. Everyone cared, from the first grader learning to read to the senior getting his diploma. The varsity football team became area champs for the first time; the school won the UIL academic meet for the second year in a row. The band went to regional competition again this year. In the agriculture department, the freshman quiz team took first place at state, and in the spring, the computer team won high honors against larger schools in an all-state competition.

Additional honors courses and computer disks for practice helped raise SAT and ACT scores. The elementary and intermediate school classes geared their studies toward upholding the winning tradition.

The fact that this was a overwhelmingly successful year is the bottom line.

Colophon

Three hundred and seventy-five copies of Volume 43 of the Bear Pride 1988 edition were printed by Newsfoto Yearbooks of San Angelo, Texas. The cover was black lithocote with blue foil stamp. The paper was 80 lbs. matte.

Headlines and copy were set in Times Roman. All copy was typed on a Tandy 1000 SX using Newsfoto's Typevision and Indexvision software.

Staff

Audrey Kosub, yearbook editor, scrutinizes page layouts and computer copy for mistakes. Her job involved assisting other students to meet deadlines and making decisions about yearbook details.

The FFA Banquet was held to honor outstanding agriculture students. The FFA teams have gained a reputation for doing well in competition.

At the Awards Ceremony, Craig Lackey presents Mr. James Maher with the UIL plaque. La Vernia swept the district meet with about 300 points.
